1. This Office action is in response to the amendment filed 07/07/2003. Claims 1-8 remain pending.
2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
3. The drawings received on 07/07/2003 are accepted.
4. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent 6,357,462 to Laosunthara et al.

As to claim 1-7, Laosunthara provides support element 11, enclosure 30 provided as a two-sided flexible material that is removably attached having first and second visible patterns on opposite surfaces, and removable covering 40 which surrounds the enclosure exterior surface 30. Covering 40 inherently has first and second visible patterns on opposite surfaces.

As to claim 8, Laosunthara et al. provides a plurality of frame elements 11 having flexible material 12 attached thereto to form panel elements which are attached together to form a perimeter enclosure. A flexible covering element 30 is removably secured to the panel elements. Both the flexible material 12 and the covering element 30 are provided with different visible patterns on each side thereof and are reversible.

5. Claims 1 and 3-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent 4,709,718 to Nichols.

Nichols provides a removable flexible covering element 10 over a tent having flexible panels attached to frame elements. Both the flexible panels and covering element inherently have a visible pattern on each side.

6. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent 6,010,176 to Jones.

Jones provides reversible and removable covers on the exterior surface of a frame. The covers have different patterns on each side thereof. It is well known that the conventional support structures discussed in column 3 may be collapsible.

7. Applicant's arguments filed 07/07/2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant's arguments with respect to how amended claims 1-5 distinguish from Laosunthara do not comply with 37 CFR 1.111(c) because they do not clearly point out the patentable novelty which he or she thinks the claims present in view of the state of the art disclosed by the references cited or the objections made. Further, they do not show how the amendments avoid such references or objections. No specific argument is presented. The new interpretation of the reference provided in the above rejection is considered to meet the claims as amended.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., With respect to claims 6-8 applicant argues that Laosunthara discloses both a flexible covering surrounding a frame and a flexible covering removably attached to the frame and that claims 6 and 8 require a single covering) are not recited in the rejected claims. Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

With respect to the rejections under Nichols applicant again fails to provide a specific argument as how claims 1 and 3-7 distinguish and it is the examiner's position that Nichols meets the claims as amended. With respect to claim 8, applicant argues Nichols fails to disclose panel elements connected together to form the perimeter of an enclosure. The four sides of the tent with one side (40/42 clearly shown) are each panels connected together forming the perimeter of an enclosure.

The conventional support structures discussed in column 3 of Jones are well known as being collapsible.

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
